	- That a feasibility brief for Programmed is defined from this study and be part of quotation to be requested from Programmed. The likely first stage of a Programmed-led feasibility study is a power audit. It is noted that a quotation request does not incur costs and does not commit the school or the P&C to proceed. - Market benchmarking continues in parallel to Programmed's activities. - Findings to be consolidated into an options report (including life-cycle-costs-analysis) for a P&C decision.
